Spend your lunch break with us on October 25th—no drive time required! This virtual event will prove to be invaluable in improving your relationship-building skills for successful collaboration.

Honoring Women Worldwide Mission:

Mobilizing, inspiring, and honoring women and families from all cultures to lead and succeed.

I never did anything alone. Whatever was accomplished in this country was accomplished collectively.

—Golda Meir

Join in the conversation over an extended lunch break and learn new ways to collaborate at work, at home and in the community.

Vickie Allen, an expert collaborator and leader, has a diverse background in identifying the people and the process to successfully get things done by collaborating with others.

You'll come away with ideas on how to use and implement our Honoring Women Worldwide 6th Operating Principle:

Embracing My Power by Taking Action to Lead

- Acknowledging My Strengths
- Knowing my boundaries and communicating effectively
- Building equal partnerships and collaborations
- Creating win/win situations

By the end of the session, you'll be inspired, excited and ready to take the new skills you've learned and build more—and better—collaborations with your connections at home, school and in the community.
